NOTIFICATION TO THE HOUSE.

Mr. CULLOM submitted the following resolution; which was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved, That the Secretary inform the House of Representatives that a quorum of the Senate is assembled, and that the Senate is ready to proceed to business.

NOTIFICATION TO THE PRESIDENT.

Mr. HALE submitted the following resolution; which was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved, That a committee consisting of two Senators be appointed, to join such committee as may be appointed by the House of Representatives to wait upon the President of the United States and inform him that a quorum of each House is assembled, and that Congress is ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make.

Ordered, That the committee be appointed by the President pro tempore.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore appointed as the committee Mr. HALE and Mr. MORGAN.

HOUR OF MEETING.

Mr. ALLISON submitted the following resolution; which was considered by unanimous consent, and agreed to:

Resolved, That the hour of daily meeting of the Senate be 12 o'clock meridian until otherwise ordered.

ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Mr. McLAURIN of South Carolina. I ask unanimous consent for the immediate consideration of the resolution which I send to the desk.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from South Carolina asks that the resolution submitted by him shall be received at this time. If there is no objection it will be received. He asks for the present consideration of the resolution. It will be read to the Senate for its information.

The Secretary proceeded to read the resolution, and read as follows:

Joint resolution allowing the importation free of payment of duty, customs fees, or charges of articles from foreign countries, and the transfer of foreign exhibits from the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, for the purpose of exhibition at the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian Exposition at Charleston, S. C.

Resolved by the Senate, etc., That all articles which shall be imported from foreign countries—

Mr. HOAR. Mr. President, I think it is the universal etiquette not to enter upon any business until the President has been informed that the two Houses are in session and his communication has been received. I hope the Senator from South Carolina will, under the usual practice, allow the resolution to lie over. I shall object to any resolution of the kind being received.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Does the Senator from South Carolina withdraw the resolution?

Mr. McLAURIN of South Carolina. Yes, sir; for the present I will withdraw it.

RECESS.

Mr. FORAKER (at 12 o'clock and 20 minutes p. m.). Mr. President, pending a report from the other House of the appointment of a committee to notify the President in conjunction with the committee of the Senate that Congress is in session and ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make, I move that the Senate take a recess for thirty minutes.

The motion was agreed to; and at the expiration of the recess (at 1 o'clock and 50 minutes p. m.) the Senate reassembled.

Mr. ALLISON. Mr. President, as there is yet no message from the House of Representatives notifying the Senate of the organization of that body and the appointment of a committee to wait upon the President, I move that a further recess be taken until 2 o'clock.

The motion was agreed to; and at the expiration of the recess (at 2 o'clock p. m.) the Senate reassembled.

DEATH OF SENATOR JAMES H. KYLE.

Mr. GAMBLE. Mr. President, it is my sad duty to formally announce to the Senate the death of my former colleague, the Hon. JAMES H. KYLE, who departed this life at his home in Aberdeen, S. Dak., on the 1st of July last, after a very brief illness.

This, perhaps, is not the time to speak of his character and of his services to his State and the nation. On some future occasion we shall ask that the ordinary business of the Senate be suspended in order that appropriate tribute may be paid to his memory. In the meantime I offer the following resolutions, and ask for their immediate consideration.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Secretary will read the resolutions submitted by the Senator from South Dakota.

The Secretary read the resolutions, as follows:

Resolved, That the Senate has heard with profound sorrow of the death of the Hon. JAMES H. KYLE, late a Senator from the State of South Dakota.

Resolved, That the Secretary communicate a copy of these resolutions to the House of Representatives.

Resolved, That, as a further mark of respect to the memory of the deceased, the Senate do now adjourn.

The resolutions were considered by unanimous consent and unanimously agreed to; and (at 2 o'clock and 4 minutes p. m.) the Senate adjourned until to-morrow, Tuesday, December 3, 1901, at 12 o'clock m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, December 2, 1901.

This day, in compliance with the provisions of the Constitution, the members-elect of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh Congress assembled in their Hall and were called to order by Mr. ALEXANDER McDOWELL, the Clerk of the last House.

The Rev. HENRY N. COUDEN, D. D., Chaplain of the last House, offered the following prayer:

Eternal and everliving God our Father, through whose infinite wisdom, power, and goodness our Republic has been brought through all the vicissitudes of the past in triumph, we bless Thee for its phenomenal growth, its unparalleled prosperity, its influence at home and abroad, and for the bright hopes and promises for its future. Fire the heart of each citizen throughout our land with earnestness and zeal for its welfare and for the great principles upon which it is founded, and help us to distinguish clearly between liberty and license, order and chaos, government and anarchy, "for righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." Let Thy blessing descend in full measure upon the members of the Congress now convened, and guide them in their strenuous endeavors to enact just and equitable laws and provide for the maintenance of our Government. Uphold and sustain the Speaker of this House in his arduous duties, and O God, our Heavenly Father, be graciously near the President of these United States, protect him from violent death, and support him in his endeavors to minister efficiently and ably the affairs of state. Protect his advisers and keep them ever in touch with him, that they may assist and strengthen him in all good purposes. We meet in faith and hope and confidence, but not without sorrow and regret that several who would have been with us to-day have been removed by death to that larger life. Comfort, we beseech Thee, the stricken families with the hope and blessed promises of immortality. It is with the deepest sorrow and pathos that we recall the untimely death of our lamented President, but we thank Thee for the great character that stamped itself upon those who knew him, and for his example living and for his sublime faith and trust in the hour of death. Be with the invalid widow in her loneliness and sorrow, sustain her in the remaining years of her life, and bring her finally in triumph to him and to Thee.

In the name and spirit of the Lord Christ our Saviour, we pray. Amen.

The Clerk appoints Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee, Mr. STARK of Nebraska, and Mr. CUMMINGS of New York [applause] as the committee to escort the Speaker-elect to the chair.

When Mr. HENDERSON appeared with the members designated, the members of the House, rising in a body, greeted him with loud and general applause, which was renewed as he ascended to the chair.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. Gentlemen of the House of Representatives, the Speaker. [Loud applause.]

The SPEAKER. Gentlemen of the House of Representatives, this high honor which you have conferred upon me I profoundly appreciate. All the more do I appreciate it coming, as it does, with this generous expression from both sides of the Chamber. There is yet left another method for a presiding officer to express his appreciation of such an honor; that is, by a kindly, firm, and faithful administration of the law and the rules that govern this body. It will be my aim to discharge impartially the duties of this office.

As I said at the opening of the last Congress, no presiding officer can successfully administer the duties of his office unless he has the support of the body over which he presides. I asked for it then; you gave it to me throughout the entire Congress. Permit me once more to invoke that patience, kind consideration, and splendid support which was accorded to me in the last Congress.

The maker of laws should not be a breaker of laws. We proceed under law and rules; and the duties devolving upon each and all of the membership of this House will be far better conserved if this principle is kept in mind and acted upon.

Again sincerely thanking you each and all, I am ready to take the prescribed oath of office.

Mr. BINGHAM, the member longest in continuous service in the House, was named by the Clerk to administer the oath of office to the Speaker-elect; and the oath was accordingly administered.

SWEARING IN OF MEMBERS.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will call the roll by States and Territories; and Members and Delegates as their names are called will please come forward to the area in front of the Clerk's desk and take the prescribed oath of office.

The SPEAKER then administered the oath of office to the Members and Delegates presenting themselves.

Mr. BUTLER of Pennsylvania qualified by affirmation.

RESIGNATION OF HON. NICHOLAS MULLER.

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following, which was read:

The SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Washington, D. C.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That James Kerr, of Pennsylvania, be elected Clerk of the House of Representatives; that E. V. Brookshire, of Indiana, be elected Sergeant-at-Arms of the House of Representatives; that Charles Edwards, of Texas, be elected Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives; that James K. Jackson, of Alabama, be elected Postmaster of the House of Representatives, and that E. B. Bagby, of Virginia, be elected Chaplain of the House of Representatives.

The question being taken, the substitute offered by Mr. HAY was rejected.

The resolution of Mr. CANNON was then adopted.

The officers mentioned in the above resolution came to the bar of the House, and the oath of office was administered to them by the Speaker.

The resolution was agreed to; and the Speaker appointed as such committee on the part of the House Mr. BINGHAM, Mr. PAYNE, and Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee.

THE RULES.

Mr. DALZELL. Mr. Speaker, I offer the resolution which I send to the Clerk's desk.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Pennsylvania offers the following resolution, which the Clerk will report.

The resolution was read, as follows:

Resolved, That the rules of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-sixth Congress be adopted as the rules of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh Congress, with the following modifications:

1. That the special orders adopted March 8 and March 14, 1900, providing a method for the consideration of pension bills, claim bills, and other private bills, shall be continued during the Fifty-seventh Congress.

2. That the place of the Select Committee on the Twelfth Census in the rules of the Fifty-sixth Congress shall be filled in the rules of the Fifty-seventh Congress by a standing Committee on the Census, to consist of thirteen members, and have jurisdiction of all proposed legislation concerning the census and the apportionment of Representatives.

Resolved further, That there shall be appointed to serve during the Fifty-seventh Congress a Select Committee on Industrial Arts and Expositions, to consist of nine members, which shall have jurisdiction of all matters (excepting those relating to the revenue and appropriations) referring to the Centennial of the Louisiana Purchase and to proposed expositions.

Resolved further, That the Select Committee on the Examination and Disposition of Documents of the Fifty-sixth Congress shall be continued during the Fifty-seventh Congress as a select committee.

Mr. DALZELL. Mr. Speaker, the object of this resolution—Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman pardon me a moment? I want to ask the gentleman if he is going to allow us any opportunity for debate and for offering amendments to the rules? The gentleman understands that if he debates this proposition and then moves the previous question it will preclude any further debate.

Mr. DALZELL. How much time would the gentleman like to have?

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. We want an opportunity to offer some amendments to these rules.

Mr. DALZELL. I will say to my friend from Tennessee that I propose to move the previous question after such debate as may be agreed upon.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. And not permit any amendment whatever to be offered?

Mr. DALZELL. That is my purpose.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. I submit, Mr. Speaker, that that is not treating us with fairness; that the gentleman ought to allow us an opportunity at least to offer some amendments to cure the defects in these rules. I wish to offer amendments, and I think the gentleman will not object to some of them, possibly—I add "possibly."

Mr. DALZELL. I will suggest to my friend from Tennessee that he can put his amendments in the shape of a resolution and send them to the Committee on Rules at any time. [Laughter.]

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. To sleep the sleep of death forever. Now, Mr. Speaker, of course the gentlemen on that side of the House have it in their power to crush us out in this matter. They have the majority sufficient to do it, unless my distinguished friend from Iowa [Mr. HEPBURN] will muster his 40 men. [Laughter.] I do not know, Mr. Speaker, that the gentleman from Iowa has 40 votes to back him; but if I am to depend upon the statement in our morning paper here on Saturday, he has 40 gentlemen on that side of the House up in arms and ready to follow his lead in an effort to amend these rules. Now, if he will bring his 40 men forward, I pledge him 150 or 160 on this side of the House, and we will change the rules. [Applause on the Democratic side.]

Now, Mr. Speaker, I wish to offer this amendment, if the gentleman will permit.

Mr. DALZELL. I have the floor and have not yielded it to the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Pennsylvania has the floor.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. I thought the gentleman yielded to me.

Mr. DALZELL. I asked how much time the gentleman wanted—

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. We want one hour.

Mr. DALZELL (continuing). And you proceeded to make a speech.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. We want an hour to debate this proposition.

Mr. DALZELL. We can not accept that. I have only an hour.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. The House can give it. If the gentleman will ask unanimous consent to give us an hour, I am sure there will be no objection on this side of the House. [Laughter on the Republican side.]

Mr. DALZELL. I am very much astonished at the attitude of my friends on the other side. This is precisely the same method of proceeding as was had in the last Congress, and it was then acquiesced in very cordially by gentlemen on that side. These rules are very familiar to the great body of the House on both sides of the Chamber. They are the rules of the Fifty-first Congress, the Fifty-fourth Congress, Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses, and almost the rules of the Fifty-third Congress, because our friends upon the other side in their last administration here adopted almost all the amendments to the rules of the Fifty-first Congress, including the rule as to dilatory motions and the method of counting a quorum and, it seems to me, the number of the Committee of the Whole—though I am not clear about that—so that there is no necessity at all for any lengthy discussion to enlighten the House.

Now, to explain the modifications we have suggested in reference to the rules. First, with reference to the Friday night sessions. If these rules be adopted, we will not have any Friday night sessions. The same method of procedure that was adopted as a special order toward the end of the last Congress will give us two Fridays each month for pension legislation and the other alternate Fridays for the Committee on War Claims and the Committee on Claims. Then it is proposed that the Committee on the Census—that was a select committee in the last House—shall be made a permanent standing committee of the House, consisting of the same number of members and having the same jurisdiction.

The committee that served in the last House under the title of the "Committee on the Centennial of the Louisiana Purchase" has been changed in name to the "Committee on Industrial Arts and Expositions;" and the purpose is to send to that committee all legislation respecting the centennial of the Louisiana purchase, and respecting expositions, if there be any such offered, saving and excepting the matter of revenue and appropriation bills. Then gentlemen will recollect that toward the end of the last Congress a select committee was appointed to take up the matter of the disposition of the vast accumulation of documents in the Capitol. This committee has done very effective work, but a great deal remains to be done, and the purpose is to continue that committee as a select committee during this Congress.

I now ask for the previous question.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. A moment, before you do that.

Mr. DALZELL. How much time does the gentleman want?

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. How much time will the gentleman give me? I know that I am at the mercy of the gentleman.

Mr. DALZELL. I will endeavor to make it suit the gentleman.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. I will only take a few moments—five minutes.

Mr. DALZELL. I yield five minutes to the gentleman from Tennessee.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Tennessee is recognized for five minutes.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Pennsylvania has assured us that there is perfect satisfaction in the House of Representatives with these rules. Now, if that is true, we have been misinformed; we have been misled by what we have seen published in respect to a number of gentlemen on that side of the Chamber. We know, Mr. Speaker, that the House of Representatives is not satisfied and the country is not satisfied with the rules of the House of Representatives. The only way, Mr. Speaker, by which we can have an opportunity to amend these rules, and to make them more perfect, will be to vote down this demand for the previous question. If that is done, I will propose an amendment to the motion of the gentleman from Pennsylvania, and with this amendment I would vote for the rules temporarily, and that amendment is that the rules remain in force for forty days from this day, unless otherwise ordered by the House. [Laughter on the Republican side.]

That, Mr. Speaker, has been the course repeatedly in adopting rules for the government of the House of Representatives. It is not new. Gentlemen laugh as if they never heard of it. Perhaps they have never read the RECORD. If they will read the RECORD they will find that the distinguished gentleman from Maine (Mr. Reed) made that motion on one occasion, I think. At any rate it has been made in former Congresses in order that the House may have time for the consideration of permanent rules before they are adopted for the government of the body. If that fails I intend to move—and I think I have that right, Mr. Speaker, notwithstanding the demand for the previous question made by the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. DALZELL], because under the rules such a motion has always been held to be in order—I shall move to commit the rules to the Committee on Rules when appointed, and upon that we shall expect that gentlemen on the other side, at least forty of them, will vote with me. [Laughter on the Republican side.]

I hope my distinguished friend from Iowa [Mr. HEPBURN] will not disappoint us in this expectation. We have heard too often from that gentleman, and we know, notwithstanding the assurance of the gentleman from Pennsylvania—

Mr. STEELE. Will the gentleman from Tennessee allow me an interruption?

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. Yes.

Mr. STEELE. Will the gentleman inform the House whether or not there are more than 40 members on that side who will vote for the McClellan resolution?

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. I would answer the gentleman, but the gentleman has things mixed. We are not discussing legislation, but the rules.

Mr. STEELE. The gentleman from Tennessee is hinting very strongly at the caucus action.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. Does the gentleman from Indiana think that the McClellan resolution is among the rules of the House? If the gentleman wants to offer that as an amendment we will consider it.

Mr. STEELE. Does the gentleman from Tennessee know whether he will vote for the McClellan resolution?

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. I will not vote for it as an amendment to the rules, but I will vote for it in shaping legislation. Does the gentleman decline to give us an opportunity to offer an amendment to the rules?

Mr. STEELE. If it was myself, I say that I would give you but but very little time. [Laughter.]

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. I did not expect the gentleman would. Now, I can not undertake to point out the defects in these rules in the limited time I have. They are arbitrary, they are undemocratic and unrepresentative. We ought to modify them so that a majority of the members of the House, a majority of both sides of the House, may consider such measures as may seem wise to that majority. Under the present rules it is impossible for a majority of the House to enter upon the consideration of any measure, however wise it may be in their judgment, except in a most qualified way.

There can be no harm, it seems to me, in permitting the rules to go to the Committee on Rules, when appointed, and let them report the rules back with such amendments as the gentleman from Pennsylvania has himself suggested, with such other amendments as may occur to members of the House who have had a long experience in this body.

Why, Mr. Speaker, it is only within the last two or three Congresses that the rules have been rammed down the throats of the members of this House without any opportunity whatever to consider them, just as you are proposing to do to-day. In the little experience I have had on this floor I have known the rules to be debated for two weeks, and even longer. Frequently from five to ten days have been devoted to the discussion of the rules in the effort to make them perfect, so that we may consider business regular and properly. But in the last two Congresses the rules have been adopted without one word of debate upon the principles involved and with only a minute or two, as I am now occupying the floor to-day, simply to protest against their adoption.

I shall not take further time, but I wish I had the time to point out some of the defects. But I do suggest that we give the Committee on Rules, when appointed, an opportunity to perfect this system of rules for the government of the House in a proper manner.

Mr. HEPBURN. Will the gentleman from Pennsylvania yield me five minutes?

Mr. DALZELL. I yield to the gentleman from Iowa five minutes.

Mr. HEPBURN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Tennessee [Mr. RICHARDSON] has made reference to me two or three times during his remarks, and it is proper, perhaps, that I should say a word. It is well known to many members of this House that heretofore I have had an opinion that the rules were not perfect; that there were amendments that might be made that would tend to the better government of this House; but I have not had this opinion alone during the last few days. I have entertained it for many years, and since I have been a member of the House I have endeavored in season and, some gentlemen would say, out of season to secure a change.

As early as the Fifty-third Congress I made an effort in that direction. The House was then presided over by a distinguished Democrat, and there was a majority of Democrats controlling the business of the House. The Democratic portion of that Congress voted unanimously to sustain the rules as they are to-day, and especially every one that we now regard as objectionable. [Laughter on the Republican side.] The rule that gives the Speaker his power was adopted in a Democratic Congress, in the Forty-sixth Congress. The gentleman from Tennessee [Mr. RICHARDSON], on the occasion that I refer to, was one of those most bitterly objecting to the changes that I propose. [Laughter on the Republican side.] He was then contending for all of these rules that I now charge as pernicious, and he was sustained in that judgment by that side of the House. The objections that I would raise have been submitted to my Republican colleagues, and by a large majority they decided that the changes I would advocate were not judicious ones; and, Mr. Speaker, I do insist that I possess that measure of modesty that when I find the whole Democratic side of the House against me and a large majority of my Republican colleagues against me I must distrust the wisdom of my own conclusions. [Laughter on the Republican side.]

Mr. SWANSON. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Pennsylvania, as the Chair understands, asks for the previous question.

Mr. SWANSON. I would like the gentleman to yield to me for ten minutes. [Cries of "Oh, no!"]

Mr. DALZELL. I can not.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Pennsylvania declines to yield.

Mr. SWANSON. I rise to a parliamentary inquiry. Have I not the right to have the rules of the last House read?

The SPEAKER. The only question before the House is the motion to order the previous question on the pending resolution.

Mr. SWANSON. I ask for the reading of the rules of the last House.

The SPEAKER. That can not be done pending the demand for the previous question on the resolution which is now before the House.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. I move, then, that this resolution be committed to the Committee on Rules.

The SPEAKER. That motion is not in order at this time.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. When is it in order?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will meet that question when it arises. [Laughter.] It is clearly not in order now.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. The rules say that a motion to recommit shall be in order pending the demand for the previous question or after the previous question has been ordered.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman assumes that we are proceeding under rules which are not now in force.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. Then what rules, may I ask, govern us now?

The SPEAKER. General parliamentary law—that is all—until this resolution is agreed to.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. When is my motion in order under "general parliamentary law?"

The SPEAKER. Not at this stage. [Laughter.]

The question being taken on ordering the previous question, there were, on a division (called for by Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee)—yeas 192, noes 149.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. I ask for tellers.

Tellers were ordered; and Mr. DALZELL and Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee were appointed.

Mr. DALZELL. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The question was taken; and there were—yeas 180, nays 143, not voting 32; as follows:

The SPEAKER. The question is now on agreeing to the resolution offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. SWANSON. I would like to offer another motion, if it be in order, to refer the resolution with instructions. We are proceeding, I understand, under "general parliamentary law;" and the simple motion for reference having been voted down, I think a motion to refer with instructions would now be in order. I desire to make that motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state that the motion of the gentleman from Tennessee, which the Chair admitted, involved a very close and doubtful question as to whether it was in order. But the Chair preferred to have the motion passed upon by the House rather than ruled upon by the Chair. The Chair is, however, very clearly of the opinion that another motion to refer can not now be entertained.

Mr. SWANSON. I ask for the reading of the rules of the last House, so that we may know what is before us for consideration.

The SPEAKER. That can not be done now.

Mr. SWANSON. I demand as a matter of right that a separate vote be taken on each separate rule. I understand that each rule is a distinctive proposition.

The SPEAKER. The question here is upon a simple resolution, and the Chair thinks the motion of the gentleman would be out of order.

Mr. SWANSON. Will the Chair permit me a moment?

The SPEAKER. There is a great deal of business to be done this afternoon, but the Chair does not desire to be discourteous or to deny the floor to any member without good reason.

Mr. SWANSON. All I ask is to state my proposition. My motion is to take a separate vote on each rule—on each proposition.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled that motion out of order. Does the gentleman ask a separate vote on the propositions contained in this resolution or a separate vote on all the rules?

Mr. SWANSON. The resolution contains a proposition that we adopt all the rules of the last House, and therefore each rule is made a part of it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is clearly of the opinion that such a demand can not be entertained.

Mr. SWANSON. Then I demand a separate vote on each separate proposition contained in the resolution—each amendment as therein proposed.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Virginia demands a separate vote on each separate proposition in the resolution. The Chair is of opinion that the gentleman has the right to make that demand.

Mr. DALZELL. Is that demand made on the resolution which I offered?

The SPEAKER. The resolution offered by the gentleman from Pennsylvania contains several distinctive propositions.

Mr. DALZELL. It contains probably three propositions; but the first is indivisible. I refer to the proposition that we adopt the rules of the Fifty-sixth Congress "with the following modifications," and the two paragraphs immediately following.

Those embrace one subject, and are incapable of division.

The SPEAKER. The first branch of the resolution, as just recited by the gentleman from Pennsylvania, is not capable of division; the Chair so holds; but the Chair is of opinion that each resolve is a separate proposition, and a separate vote may be demanded upon it.

Mr. DALZELL. I think the Chair is right on that.

Mr. SWANSON. Mr. Speaker, I had no desire to filibuster or delay the proceedings of the House in the adoption of these rules. I simply addressed to the gentleman from Pennsylvania a courteous request that I be allowed ten minutes to speak. This side was accorded only five minutes, and I proposed merely that there should be allowed to us as much time as was accorded to the other side. All I desire is simply to state my views in reference to these rules, and I think as a Representative I am entitled to that privilege.

Mr. STEELE. I call for the regular order.

The SPEAKER. The regular order is demanded. The Clerk will report that portion of the resolution which will be first voted upon.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved, That the rules of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-sixth Congress be adopted as the rules of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh Congress, with the following modifications:

1. That the special orders adopted March 8 and March 14, 1900, providing a method for the consideration of pension bills, claim bills, and other private bills shall be continued during the Fifty-seventh Congress.

2. That the place of the Select Committee on the Twelfth Census in the rules of the Fifty-sixth Congress shall be filled in the rules of the Fifty-seventh Congress by a standing committee on the census, to consist of 13 members, and have jurisdiction of all proposed legislation concerning the census and the apportionment of Representatives.

The SPEAKER. The question is on agreeing to the portion of the resolution just read.

Mr. SWANSON. I desire an opportunity to vote on the first proposition—that we adopt the rules of the Fifty-sixth Congress.

The SPEAKER. This is the first distinctive branch of the resolution. [The question was put.] The ayes appear to have it.

Mr. SWANSON. I demand the yeas and nays on this proposition.

The yeas and nays were not ordered, only 27 voting in favor thereof.

The first division of the resolution was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the next division of the resolution.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved further, That there shall be appointed to serve during the Fifty-seventh Congress a Select Committee on Industrial Arts and Expositions, to consist of 9 members, which shall have jurisdiction of all matters (excepting those relating to the revenue and appropriations) referring to the Centennial of the Louisiana Purchase and to proposed expositions.

The question being taken on agreeing to the second division of the resolution, it was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will now read the third and last division of the resolution.

The Clerk read as follows:

Resolved further, That the Select Committee on the Examination and Disposition of Documents of the Fifty-sixth Congress shall be continued during the Fifty-seventh Congress as a select committee.

The third division of the resolution was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. This completes the action on this resolution.

Mr. DALZELL. I move to reconsider the votes by which the resolution has been agreed to, and also move that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table.

Mr. RICHARDSON. Mr. Speaker, as I understand, this resolution has not been adopted as a whole. The question has been taken separately on these different amendments, but the whole resolution as amended has not been voted upon. The question, I understand, is now on the adoption of the resolution.

The SPEAKER. All the separate propositions embraced in this resolution have been adopted, and that adopts the whole resolution. The question is on the motion of the gentleman from Pennsylvania to reconsider the several votes by which the resolution was adopted, and to lay the motion to reconsider upon the table.

The latter motion was agreed to.

DAILY HOUR OF MEETING.

Mr. HOPKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move the adoption of the resolution which I send to the Clerk's desk.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Illinois offers the following resolution, which the Clerk will report to the House.

The resolution was read, as follows:

Resolved, That until otherwise ordered, the daily hour of meeting of the House of Representatives shall be 12 o'clock meridian.

The resolution was agreed to.

PRINTING OF DIGEST AND MANUAL.

Mr. GROSVENOR. Mr. Speaker, I move the adoption of the resolution which I send to the Clerk's desk.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Ohio submits the following resolution, which the Clerk will report.

The resolution was read, as follows:

Resolved, That there be printed 2,000 copies of the Digest and Manual of the Rules and Practice of the House of Representatives for the first session of the Fifty-seventh Congress, the same to be bound and distributed under the direction of the Speaker and Clerk of the House.

The resolution was agreed to.

DRAWING OF SEATS.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following resolution, which I send to the Clerk's desk.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Indiana offers the following resolution, which the Clerk will report.

The resolution was read, as follows:

Resolved, That the House do now proceed to draw seats for Members and Delegates of the present Congress, in pursuance of Rule XXXII, and when names of members absent from the city or on account of sickness are called, that seats be selected for them by their colleagues.

Mr. CANNON. Mr. Speaker, heretofore, in drawing for seats, the members of the House have gone outside of the railing. All we have to do is to cast our eyes about us and see that there is no room for that now. I ask unanimous consent that the resolution may be so amended that the members of the House may go into the lobby, letting these doors be open, with pages or messengers stationed at the doors, to announce the names of gentlemen as they are called. Otherwise, it seems to me, we shall have great confusion in drawing seats.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Illinois [Mr. CANNON] asks unanimous consent that the resolution be so amended that the members waiting for the drawing may occupy the lobby and that pages announce the names of members when called. Is there objection?

There was no objection.

The resolution as amended was agreed to.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman suspend a moment until the rule relating to this matter is read?

The Clerk read as follows:

RULE XXXII.

DRAWING OF SEATS.

1. At the commencement of each Congress, immediately after the Members and Delegates are sworn in, the Clerk shall place in a box, prepared for that purpose, a number of small balls, of marble or other material, equal to the number of Members and Delegates, which balls shall be consecutively numbered and thoroughly intermingled, and at such hour as shall be fixed by the House for that purpose, by the hands of a page, draw said balls one by one from the box and announce the number as it is drawn, upon which announcement the Member or Delegate whose name on a numbered alphabetical list shall correspond with the number on the ball shall advance and choose his seat for the term for which he is elected.

2. Before said drawing shall commence each seat shall be vacated and so remain until selected under this rule, and any seat having been selected shall be deemed forfeited if left unoccupied before the call of the roll is finished, and whenever the seats of Members and Delegates shall have been drawn, no proposition for a second drawing shall be in order during that Congress.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, before the drawing begins, I ask unanimous consent that the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. GROW], an ex-Speaker of this House, and the gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. BINGHAM], the Father of the House, be permitted to choose their seats. [Applause.]

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from New York [Mr. SHERMAN] asks unanimous consent that Representative GROW, an ex-Speaker of the House, and Representative BINGHAM, the Father of the House, be permitted to select their seats without drawing.

Mr. RICHARDSON of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, there is a gentleman on this side of the House who I know has not been here during all the sessions since he first became a member, but who was a member of the Forty-third Congress. That is Mr. CREAMER, of New York; and I ask that he also be allowed to select his seat.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Tennessee [Mr. RICHARDSON] adds to the request of the gentleman from New York the further request that the gentleman from New York [Mr. CREAMER] be allowed to draw his seat. Is there objection to these requests?

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to add the name of the gentleman from Tennessee [Mr. RICHARDSON], the leader of the Democratic minority.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Kentucky asks unanimous consent that the name of the gentleman from Tennessee [Mr. RICHARDSON], the floor leader on the Democratic side, be added to these requests. Is there objection to these four requests?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to state that there are so many floral gifts in the general lobby that it may be necessary to use the other lobbies in order to carry out the order of the House.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. Speaker, there is no objection to members standing outside of this railing if they want to, is there?

The SPEAKER. The rule does not exclude them from doing it, but opens up the larger field also. The Doorkeeper will appoint pages for the several doors, in accordance with the order of the House. Gentlemen will please vacate the floor of the House, except the four specially named. It will not be permitted for any other Member to stay inside the floor. All others must vacate before the order will be put into execution. The gentleman from Pennsylvania [Mr. GROW] will please select his seat. [Applause.]

The drawing of seats began at 3 o'clock and 26 minutes, and was concluded at 4 o'clock and 23 minutes.

SOUTH CAROLINA INTERSTATE AND WEST INDIAN EXPOSITION.

Mr. ELLIOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent for the present consideration of the joint resolution which I send to the desk.

The Clerk read as follows:

Joint resolution allowing the importation free of payment of duty, customs fees, or charges of all articles from foreign countries and the transfer of foreign exhibits from the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo for the purpose of exhibition at the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian Exposition at Charleston, S. C.

Resolved, etc., That all articles which shall be imported from foreign countries for the purpose of exhibition at the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian Exposition at Charleston, S. C., upon which there shall be a tariff or customs duty, and all foreign exhibits which shall be transferred in bond from the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, N. Y., shall be admitted free of payment of duty, customs fees, or charges, under such regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe; but it shall be lawful at any time during the exposition to sell for delivery at the close thereof any goods or property imported for and actually on exhibition in the exposition building or on the grounds, subject to such regulations for the security of the revenue and for the collection of the import duties as the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe: Provided, That all such articles, when sold or withdrawn for consumption in the United States, shall be subject to the duty, if any, imposed upon such articles by the revenue laws at the date of the importation, and all penalties prescribed by laws shall be applied and enforced against such articles and against the person who may be guilty of any illegal sale or withdrawal: And provided further, That the buildings and spaces set apart for the purpose of the said exposition shall be constituted "constructive bonded warehouses and yards," and all foreign articles placed therein shall be under customs supervision and treated as merchandise in bond.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection?

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I shall not object to the joint resolution if the gentleman from South Carolina will accept the amendment which I send to the Clerk's desk to be read for his information.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will report the amendment which the gentleman from New York offers to the resolution pending the determination of the question of unanimous consent.

The Clerk read as follows:

And provided further, That all necessary expenses incurred, including salaries of customs officials in charge of imported articles, shall be paid to the Treasury of the United States by the exposition company under regulations to be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

SEC. 2. That in the passage of this joint resolution the United States does not assume any liability of any kind whatever and does not become responsible in any manner for any bond, debt, contract, expenditure, expense, or liability of the said company, its officers, agents, servants, or employees or incident to or growing out of said exposition.

Mr. PAYNE. I will say, Mr. Speaker, that that is the same amendment as proposed by the Committee on Ways and Means to legislation for the Buffalo Pan-American Exposition and several other expositions.

Mr. ELLIOTT. I have no objection, Mr. Speaker, to that amendment. In fact, all those arrangements have already been made as to the matter of the expense.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection? [After a pause.] The Chair hears none. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from New York.

The question was taken, and the amendment was agreed to.

The joint resolution as amended was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading; and being engrossed, it was accordingly read the third time, and passed.

On motion of Mr. ELLIOTT, a motion to reconsider the vote by which the joint resolution was passed was laid on the table.

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to; and accordingly (at 4 o'clock and 30 minutes p. m.) the House adjourned.

The message was received from the secretary and handed to the President pro tempore.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Chair lays before the Senate the following message from the President of the United States, which the Secretary will read:

The Secretary read the message, as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

The Congress assembles this year under the shadow of a great calamity. On the sixth of September, President McKinley was shot by an anarchist while attending the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, and died in that city on the fourteenth of that month.

Of the last seven elected Presidents, he is the third who has been murdered, and the bare recital of this fact is sufficient to justify grave alarm among all loyal American citizens. Moreover, the circumstances of this, the third assassination of an American President, have a peculiarly sinister significance. Both President Lincoln and President Garfield were killed by assassins of types unfortunately not uncommon in history; President Lincoln falling a victim to the terrible passions aroused by four years of civil war, and President Garfield to the revengeful vanity of a disappointed office-seeker. President McKinley was killed by an utterly depraved criminal belonging to that body of criminals who object to all governments, good and bad alike, who are against any form of popular liberty if it is guaranteed by even the most just and liberal laws, and who are as hostile to the upright exponent of a free people's sober will as to the tyrannical and irresponsible despot.

It is not too much to say that at the time of President McKinley's death he was the most widely loved man in all the United States; while we have never had any public man of his position who has been so wholly free from the bitter animosities incident to public life. His political opponents were the first to bear the heartiest and most generous tribute to the broad kindness of nature, the sweetness and gentleness of character which so endeared him to his close associates. To a standard of lofty integrity in public life he united the tender affections and home virtues which are all-important in the make-up of national character. A gallant soldier in the great war for the Union, he also shone as an example to all our people because of his conduct in the most sacred and intimate of home relations. There could be no personal hatred of him, for he never acted with aught but consideration for the welfare of others. No one could fail to respect him who knew him in public or private life. The defenders of those murderous criminals who seek to excuse their criminality by asserting that it is exercised for political ends, inveigh against wealth and irresponsible power. But for this assassination even this base apology cannot be urged.

President McKinley was a man of moderate means, a man whose stock sprang from the sturdy tillers of the soil, who had himself belonged among the wage-workers, who had entered the Army as a private soldier. Wealth was not struck at when the President was assassinated, but the honest toil which is content with moderate gains after a lifetime of unremitting labor, largely in the service of the public. Still less was power struck at in the sense that power is irresponsible or centered in the hands of any one individual. The blow was not aimed at tyranny or wealth. It was aimed at one of the strongest champions the wage-worker has ever had; at one of the most faithful representatives of the system of public rights and representative government who has ever risen to public office. President McKinley filled that political office for which the entire people vote, and no President—not even Lincoln himself—was ever more earnestly anxious to represent the well-thought-out wishes of the people; his one anxiety in every crisis was to keep in closest touch with the people—to find out what they thought and to endeavor to give expression to their thought, after having endeavored to guide that thought aright. He had just been re-elected to the Presidency because the majority of our citizens, the majority of our farmers and wage-workers, believed that he had faithfully upheld their interests for four years. They felt themselves in close and intimate touch with him. They felt that he represented so well and so honorably all their ideals and aspirations that they wished him to continue for another four years to represent them.

And this was the man at whom the assassin struck! That there might be nothing lacking to complete the Judas-like infamy of his act, he took advantage of an occasion when the President was meeting the people generally; and advancing as if to take the hand outstretched to him in kindly and brotherly fellowship, he turned the noble and generous confidence of the victim into an opportunity to strike the fatal blow. There is no baser deed in all the annals of crime.

The shock, the grief of the country, are bitter in the minds of all who saw the dark days, while the President yet hovered between life and death. At last the light was stilled in the kindly eyes and the breath went from the lips that even in mortal agony uttered no words save of forgiveness to his murderer, of love for his friends, and of unflinching trust in the will of the Most High. Such a death, crowning the glory of such a life, leaves us with infinite sorrow, but with such pride in what he had accomplished and in his own personal character, that we feel the blow not as struck at him, but as struck at the Nation. We mourn a good and great President who is dead; but while we mourn we are lifted up by the splendid achievements of his life and the grand heroism with which he met his death.
